Eligibility

Any male student or faculty member who intends to pursue a career in the food, fiber and life sciences industry is eligible for membership in Alpha Gamma Rho. Most students or faculty members in a College or School of Agriculture, Food, Fiber, Life Sciences, Forestry, Natural Resources or Veterinary Medical Science are eligible.

In addition, there may be cases when some students may be majoring in undergraduate courses other than in the agriculture college or school who have an intent to follow a career in some field of agriculture. These students may be eligible for membership in Alpha Gamma Rho when the Chapter Adviser 1) feels confident that the individual "intends to pursue a career in the food and fiber industry," and 2) provides a brief explanation of the candidate's career intent (on a separate sheet attached to this initiation form).
